

LETTER

ISMA^{UK}

As Chair of the International Stress Management Association (ISMA), I am delighted that ISMA have been invited to be the lead sponsor of the new International Journal of Stress Prevention and Wellbeing. ISMA looks forward to contributing to articles with a specific focus on the theory, research and practice of stress prevention and management.

We are confident that the new journal will publish proceedings of future conferences, congresses and symposia that will be very well received by professional practitioners working both within and external to, the workplace.

We wish the new journal every success for the future.

Regards

Carole Spiers
